CLASS HISTORY

How would you like to reminisce with us as we turn back the pages to a September day in 1941 when we took our first educational steps?

On that bright sunny morning, Miss Marjorie Reynolds greeted a shy, little group of forty tots. Mr. Morris, our principal, divided us into two groups and Miss Ruth McNeil, now Mrs. Peterka, taught the other group. Every day we brought apples to school, not for the teacher, but for ourselves, and they would keep them for us. Bonnie Moran distinctly remembers the day when someone left a tiny green apple in place of her big shiny red one. Then came the day Patsy Carter went home at recess thinking it was time to go home. In spite of the hammering, sawing, and banging we readily learned readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic, for it was at this time that the new wing was under construction.

Well, we're back to school and in the second grade, and greeted by new teachers, Miss Phyllis Mallory and Miss Louella Kuhn. Some of us felt quite lucky, because we were in the new building which was completed during the summer. Soon September was over, and we celebrated Halloween. Thanksgiving gave us a tummy-ache, but what's a little tummy-ache now and then. On Christmas we drew names and had a very bright, pretty tree, and of course, there was Santa! The Easter Bunny also visited us that year. Then, unbelievably soon we were returning home with our report cards for the summer.

After a nice summer vacation we again trotted the paths to school to enter the third grade. Miss Irene Martin and Miss Sarah Fredenberger were there to enroll us and to try to teach us many things that year. Again, at Christmas time Santa Claus made his regular visit to all the rooms. In April, Miss Mina Thompson gave us an elm tree that we transplanted as a class project. Before long another school year was over, and we closed with a class picnic.

It was September again, and as we all know September means school. We put on our best bib and tucker and were off to begin our fourth year. There to greet us were Miss Louise Welles and Miss Dessie Buchter. That year geography was added to our studies and was our main headache. We all enjoyed Christmas because of the little bit of mistletoe we had. On returning to school after the Christmas holidays a new superintendent, Mr. Eater, ushered us into the new year. All too soon the snow was gone, and the leaves were back again. After a quick glance at our grade cards, we went home to enjoy our vacation.

After a nice summer vacation we dusted off our books and went back to school to enter the fifth grade. That year the book rental system was introduced in our school. Our new teachers were Miss Dorothy Wagner and Miss Alice Wellpott. For the first time we had P. E. separately, that is, the boys had it one day and the girls another day. History too, was added to our load. At this time the boys, coached by Miss Fredenberger, were taught some of the fundamentals of basketball. With all these new things happening, school ended all too soon.

In the fall of '46 we felt quite proud because we were in the sixth grade. Our teachers for the year were Miss Dorothy Skelton and Mr. John Schwetzler, our first man teacher. The year was crammed full of excitement. Miss Skelton transplanted seedlings into boxes which we sold for funds for a magnolia tree which is planted on the west side of the school grounds. During the year the class decided to go on field trips which were directed by Miss Skelton. When snow forced us inside, we started to work on our yearly Christmas decorations. We had our annual gift exchange and tree. That year a sports carnival was held. It was the first in the history of the school, and was under the direction of Miss Bohn, Mr. Schwetzler, and Mr. Sharpe. Before we knew it spring had caught up with us, and we ended the term with a class picnic.

We couldn't wait for school to start in '47 because we were in the seventh grade. This brought many new happenings. One of them was the introduction to the departmental system. We students passed from one room to another for every subject. The homeroom teachers were Mrs. McFadyen—7E and Miss Wellpott—7W. Our other departmental teachers were Mr. Sharpe, Miss Bohn, Mrs. Waters, and Mrs. Bingham. Early in the fall some of us participated in a minstrel given at the Halloween Frolic. We also were quite proud when we were given the job of publishing the school newspaper. In our class were a number of ace basketball players, who helped us take first place in the featherweight tournament and second in the lightweight tournament. Time went too fast to enjoy all the events. We were glad and sad to close the term with a class picnic.

Into our final year of elementary school were crowded many activities. Our homeroom teachers for the busy year were Mr. Sharpe and Miss Bohn. The new departmental teachers were, Mrs. Bauer and Mrs. Smith. Miss Wellpott was still our English teacher, and Mrs. McFadyen still taught us science and literature. We enjoyed publishing the newspaper, working hard to publish the second yearbook, and other exciting activities. Among our outstanding projects was the production of the operetta, "H. M. S. Pinafore," directed by Mrs. Smith and Miss Bohn. Rex Parker also won first place in the American Education Week cartoon contest. Patsy Lathrop also received honorable mention. We all looked forward to commencement, and our banquet with a little joy mixed with some regret. Although, there were forty of us to begin with only sixteen of us are with the graduating class of '49. They are Bonnie Moran, Patsy Carter, Cyril Wainscott, Nancy Collins, Wanza Lane, Juanita Karr, Blanche Gonder, Ruth Walsh, Billy Luttrell, Freda Heimburger, Joan Wells, Joan Otis, Patricia Lathrop, Mary Holzhauer, Ruth Carlton, and Bobby Loslo.

1949 CLASS PROPHECY

It was a lovely day in 1959 as Cyril Wainscott and Ted Petersen, wealthy bachelor inventors, boarded their rocket ship for an excursion to the moon. As they prepared to take off, they waved to the mechanic, George Stalter, and his wife, the former Joan Otis.

After their rocket ship was successfully launched, the boys decided to check with the earth by space radio, and to their amazement, they heard Laurence Knowles's band and his featured singer and wife, Nancy Collins, singing "Be Bopp Blues."

Soon they landed on planetoid X-332, where they planned to refuel, and they saw Bruce O'Hara, the gas station attendant, and his wife, the former Freda Heimburger, with their 5 dirty, crying, children. They refueled with their super-atomic fuel, invented by the genius, Ted Reynolds, and then started off on the second lap of their journey to the moon.

They stopped overnight at a large planetoid, called Y-342, and stopped at the Philbrick Hotel, managed by Jack Philbrick and Patsy Carter, now his wife.

After checking their rocket ship at the hotel garage space, they registered with the hotel desk clerk, Dickie Varner. After this, they went to the hotel barber shop and had their hair cut by the chief barber, Robert Junkins. At the same time, they had a manicure given them by that cute little brunette, Delores Alcorn. From Delores, they learned that Mr. Bobby Loslo and his wife, the former Mary Holzhauer, were running a reducing salon.

After leaving Delores, they went to dinner and were served by none other than Billy Davis. Just as they started to eat their dessert, they heard a feminine voice say, "Why look, Rex dear, there are our old school chums, Ted and Cyril." They looked up and saw their old classmate, Shirley Carney, and her husband, Rex Parker. The Parkers invited them to their penthouse apartment. In the conversation which followed, they learned that Lester Kinney was the president of the Kentucky Pill factory. He had his own private secretary, Kay Sparks. They also learned that Elvena York was playing opposite Doyle Beesley and Roy Phillips in the new motion picture production, "Two Loves Have I."

"What ever happened to Billy Luttrell?" inquired Shirley.

"He's managing a large pigeon farm and raising pigeons for Lowell Hill's circus," said Cyril.

After their visit, they went to Sharpe's Chorus Club where they saw many old school chums, in the chorus line. Included in the dance, were Shirley Bailey, Ruth Carlton, Sally Geyer, Mary Grimsey, Pat LaBelle, and Joann Wells. Doing a special number was Lillian Schubert.

They got ready to leave and collected their hats from the hat girl, Diane Miller.

They hailed a jet taxi and were driven to the hotel by the taxi driver, Blanche Gonder. They finally went back to the hotel to get a good night's rest.

Waking up bright and early the next morning, they were served breakfast by Juanita Karr. Finally they started on the third and last lap of their journey.

At last, they reached the mysterious and romantic moon. They parked their rocket ship in Happy Walsh's parking lot, run by Ruth Walsh. From Ruth, they learned that Elizabeth Cain and Gene King were in the hospital suffering from heartaches. Their two nurses were Wanza Lane and Caroline Milchman.

After visiting the hospital, they went to Tarman's Department Store, run by Dorthea Tarman. As they stopped at the souvenir counter, they were waited on by Bonnie Moran, one of the clerks. After having made numerous purchases, they decided to begin their return trip to the earth.

They hastened to the parking lot to check out their rocket ship. After refueling the rocket ship, they pulled the starting lever and in a blinding flash of light, they were off into space on their return trip to the earth. The ship was set on remote control, after traveling several million miles. Cyril then decided to inspect the ship and to his great amazement, he discovered a stowaway, who was none other than Patsy Lathrop. When she was given the third degree, she reluctantly revealed that she thought this was the quickest way to reach the gas station on planetoid 333½, where her ardent lover was waiting for her. From this blissful spot, they continued, full speed, to the earth, which ended their exciting, eventful journey.

OUR TOKENS AND DESIRES

Being a fun-loving, exceedingly intelligent, and democratic group we, the 1949 Eighth Grade class, depart from the formal type of legal documents of last will and testaments to leave to our teachers, friends, and classmates, in an informal way, these tokens of our love and affections.

After eight years, and in some cases nine, the time is drawing near when we will no longer wander through the halls of our beloved Rantoul Elementary School. So, as we depart, we wish to leave with you these fond remembrances of our tokens and desires:

To Mr. Eater, our principal, who has been so patient and thoughtful, we leave our echoing footsteps.

To our teachers, we leave the hope of teaching another eighth grade class as brilliant as ours.

To the Seventh Grade class, we tender our beloved classrooms and teachers.

Delores Alcorn leaves her meekness to Gery Maury.

Ted Reynolds gives his horse laugh to David Nelson.

Cyril Wainscott (better known as Webster II) leaves his large vocabulary to Joyce Steed.

Ruth Walsh bequeaths to Gary Evans her nickname of "Granma."

Laurence Knowles leaves his manly physique to George Gallia.

Dorothea Tarman gives her golden earrings to Kenneth Wittenmeier.

Gene King donates his "Lizzy" to Julian Woodin.

Rex Parker leaves his red flannel undies to Miss Bohn.

Patricia Lathrop wills her Pepsodent smile to Barbara Hadler.

Jack Philbrick is leaving his ability to get along with teachers to John Brown.

Lowell Hill leaves his artistic ability to Virginia Karr.

Bruce O'Hara and Ted Petersen leave their David and Jonathan friendship to James Wright and Raymond Turrell.

Evelyn Valente gives her ability to get along with everyone to Charles Powell.

Carolyn Milchman leaves to Rosabelle Hobson, Valerie Heizer, and Christine Lane her gleesome threesome (Rex Parker, Jack Philbrick, and Cyril Wainscott).

Blanche Gonder is leaving her gracefulness to Priscilla Waters.

Freda Heimburger bestows upon Rubye Petersen her personality, that draws members of the opposite sex.

Joann Wells leaves her ability to carry out her threats to Mrs. Bauer.

George Stalter gives his penmanship ability to Shirley Hurdle.

Shirley Bailey leaves her ability to imitate Cass Daly to Jerry Potts.

Diane Miller gives her quiet disposition to Donald Cook.

Joseph Robert Loslo, Jr., leaves to Patricia Warner his athletic figure.

Pat LaBelle gives her feather cut to Mr. Obrecht.

Joan Otis leaves her 5′ 9″ to Norman Hill.

Billy Luttrell leaves his pigeons to Mrs. McFadyen.

Billy Davis donates his entire fortune (3 cents) to Eugene Warren.

Robert Junkins gives his bobby pins to Linda Smith.

Elizabeth Cain wills her size four clodhoppers to Ralph Williams.

Doyle Beesley leaves to Craig Chambers his position on the featherweight team.

Juanita Karr gives her position as model for Halo shampoo (the shampoo that glorifies the hair) to Marie Booker.

Mary Holzhauer leaves to Aubrey Mills her reducing machine.

Lester Kinney gives his ability to make remarks about teachers to Ronnie Stout.

Ruth Carlton bestows upon Donald Grovier her daredevil attitude.

Wanza Lane leaves her ability to draw pictures in other classes (besides art classes) to Valerie Heizer.

Roy Phillips gives to Raymond Luttrell his seat beside Mary Holzhauer in the movies.

Shirley Carney endows Gene Ethridge with her boisterous ways.

Sally Geyer leaves her permanent wave to Barbara Cheek.

Mary Grimsey is leaving her ability to make excuses for her numerous absences to Tommy Dean.

Bonnie Moran departs from her position as center on the basketball court with her knowledge of the fundamentals of basketball, and leaves it to Dorothy Stoneman.

Lillian Schubert endows her fame as sweater girl to Shirley Minkler.

Thus, we hope that our good deeds as well as our wrong doings may echo and re-echo through the corridors for many and many a year.

CHANUTE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Due to the great increase in our enrollment it became necessary to enlarge our classroom facilities, which was made possible through the Chanute Air Force Base authority. In September 1948, all Kindergarten, first grade, and second grade children of army and Civil Service personnel living in Chapman Courts and on Chanute Air Force Base were enrolled in these grades at Chanute Elementary School.

Transportation for the students of the Chanute Elementary School was provided by the Chanute Air Force Base.

BASKETBALL

Proud of their new suits and new school bus for transportation, the basketball boys have responded by playing some fine ball. Under the direction of their coaches, Mr. Obrecht and Mr. Sharpe, two squads, lightweights and heavyweights, were formed and have played a regular schedule of games. A featherweight team was organized to play in the annual county tournament.

On the heavyweight team the players were Ralph Williams, Rex Parker, Jack Philbrick, Laurence Knowles, Dickie Varner, Eugene Warren, and Robert Junkins. During the first semester these boys won three games and lost four. They made a better showing in the county tournament this year than last, when they lost their opening game to Homer.

The lightweight boys included: Gene King, Gery Maury, Jerry Potts, Raymond Luttrell, Roy Phillips, James Bryan, Richard Knowles, Billy Luttrell, John Brown, Ronnie Stout. Going into the second semester, the lightweights lost only one game, a one-point affair to Sidney. They hold victories over Fisher, Paxton, Homer, St. Joseph, Gifford, and Gibson City. The featherweight boys have not played a regular schedule, but did a fine job defending their county championship. These boys are featherweights: Doyle Beesley, Stanley Parker, Eldon Molck, Jackie Cruea, David Luttrell, Robert Robinson, Dickie Brown, James Knowles, Jerry Zachary, and Earl Schubert.

SCHOOL BUS

The School Bus was purchased this year to supplement the transportation activities of the Elementary School. The bus was used primarily to transport the athletic teams and cheerleaders to out-of-town games. It was also used extensively on field trips sponsored by the home room teachers. We are proud of the bus and the coaches have repeatedly expressed their appreciation of the bus.

The Rantoul Elementary Softball Team had an unusually successful season, winning 7 games and losing only 3. We lost the county tourney to Homer after beating them in the semi-finals. The won and lost average for the Bulldogs was .700.

OUR CHEERLEADERS

In October of 1948 the halls were buzzing with the seventh and eighth grade girls talking about cheerleading tryouts. Then came the time for them to be chosen. The fortunate ones were Elizabeth Cain, Patsy Carter, Patricia Lathrop, and Kay Sparks.

It is without doubt, that it was through the untiring efforts of these girls and their coach, Miss Bohn, that the athletics for the school year showed such a remarkable record.

Eighth Grade Girl All-Stars

In the middle of December, seventh and eighth grade girls were chosen for the basketball all-star teams, the only organized athletic activity for the girls of the school. When the physical education classes were forced indoors by inclement weather, basketball became the most important sport to the girls, and they played hard to reach the goal of being selected for the all-star team.

Beginning center left : Lillian Schubert, Mary Holzhauer, Joan Otis, Bonnie Moran, Miss Bohn, Shirley Bailey, Shirley Carney, Patsy Carter, Nancy Collins, Kay Sparks, Patsy Lathrop, Wanza Lane.

Seventh Grade Girl All-Stars

The eighth-graders voted as to who would represent them, but the seventh grade group was chosen by their instructor, Miss Bohn. The girls were selected according to their ability and sportsmanship.

Three games will be played in an intramural tournament to determine the winning all-star team.

This athletic contest is always one of the highlights of the year because girls' basketball is so different from boys' basketball.

H. M. S. PINAFORE

H. M. S. Pinafore

The H. M. S. Pinafore was presented by the two eighth grade classes on December 3, 1948. The operetta concerns the sailors and the captain aboard a British ship, "The H. M. S. Pinafore." Ralph, a sailor, is hopelessly in love with the Captain's daughter, Josephine. The story is complicated by the pompous Sir Joseph Porter, First Lord of the Admiralty, who plans to marry Josephine. The operetta, a happy combination of lilting tunes and sparkling humor, was enjoyed by the cast as well as the audience.

Jack Philbrick, Captain Corcoran; Pat Lathrop, his daughter Josephine; Lowell Hill, the able seaman; Cyril Wainscott, Sir Joseph and Mary Holzhauer, Cousin Hebe were the leading characters. The Captain's crew, all the eight grade boys, was managed by Boastwain Rex Parker and Dickie Varner, the one-eyed sailor. The eighth grade girls were the admiring crowd of sisters, cousins, and aunts who followed him. An air of mystery was added by Kay Sparks, Little Buttercup.

The music was directed by Mrs. Smith and the dramatics by Miss Bohn.

ART

Under the supervision of Mrs. Bauer, our art classes completed numerous projects. Among them were block printing, portrait sketching, and freehand drawing.

The art classes skillfully decorated the halls and rooms for our annual Halloween Frolic. Later they entered the American Education Week Cartoon Contest in which Rex Parker won first place, and Armin Brodt, Patsy Lathrop and Suzanne Bois honorable mention.

In April the Art department sponsored a fine art exhibit of colonial prints.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, organized in 1946, is the governing body of the school. Its purposes are to develop good conduct, to promote student participation in the organization of the school, and to bring about closer cooperation between the students and the faculty. The council conducts various activities for the purpose of obtaining funds with which to sponsor worth-while projects.

The officers for 1948-49 include the president, Rex Parker; vice-president, Shirley Carney; secretary, Ted Petersen; treasurer, Valerie Heizer and sergeant-at-arms, Lorraine Mogel.

The council membership is composed of sixteen students, two from each home-room in the upper four grades. To remain a council member one must maintain a citizenship average of "B" or above and an educational average of at least "C."

BAND

Mr. Meeker, who is in charge of the instrumental music, organized our band groups into two groups, beginners and advanced. In the beginners group there were fifteen students while the advanced band consisted of thirty-four students. At various times during the year these groups entertained with special numbers.

SAFETY PATROL

The Safety Patrol was organized again this year under the supervision of Mr. Sharpe. Six teams were formed, and each team chose a captain. The captains were: Gene King, Dickie Varner, Jerry Potts, Gery Maury, Stanley Parker, and Richard Knowles. The patrol boys guard the crossings at all busy street intersections, and in addition, they escort all children of the first five grades across dangerous streets at noon and after school.

Because of the perfect record of the Safety Patrol, an award ceremony was held in the school auditorium. Mr. Arnett, a representative of the Chicago Motor Club which sponsors the Safety Patrol, congratulated the boys on their record and their excellent work. Chief of Police McAllister expressed the appreciation of the townspeople for the work of the Safety Patrol and presented the school a certificate of award for their efforts. Captain Gene King accepted the award on behalf of the Patrol and the school.

Each year the Chicago Motor Club entertains all county Safety Patrol members at a picnic in Hessel Park, Champaign. Games and stunts, with prizes for winners, are always enjoyed.

HALL PATROL GROUPS

Sixth Grade Hall Patrol Boys

Since our enrollment increased this year, we found it necessary to organize two hall patrol groups to aid in lessening the confusion in the halls. The sixth grade boys patrolled the stairs in the north wing under Mr. Obrecht's and Miss Skelton's supervision. At the same time the seventh and eighth grade girls were in control of the south wing halls, supervised by Miss Wellpott. Each week a different group was on duty.
